Logistics is the supply line of business.
In our global economy, goods cross many borders and regions before they end up on store shelves. Palo Alto's warehouse and transportation courses train the students in the science of material movement and storage. Students will learn about scheduling, warehouse operations, transportation, and international customs.

Ronnie Brannon, Lead Logistics Instructor 210-486-3087
rbrannon@alamo.edu